25X1 8. [REDACTED] In the absence of Ed Braswell, Chief Counsel, Senate Armed Services Committee, I met with Jack Ticer, Chief Clerk, Senate Armed Services Committee, and provided him with an advance copy of the letter we were suggesting the Director send to Chairman John C. Stennis, (D., Miss.), on the Proxmire amendments to the National Security Act which were adopted by the Senate last week.

I also left with Ticer a copy of our proposed reply to the latest letter from Sam Dash and Fred Thompson, Chief Counsel and Minority Counsel, Senate Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities, on CIA Watergate related materials and documents.

25X1 9. [REDACTED] As I was leaving Jack Ticer's, Chief Clerk, Senate Armed Services Committee, office, Clark McFadden, General Counsel, Senate Committee on Armed Services, returned to his office and I briefed him on our concern about several aspects of the Proxmire amendments to the National Security Act as adopted by the Senate last week. I told McFadden we were hopeful that by also expressing our concern to the House committee that the committees could work out a rationale for taking care of the problems which were being identified in the Director's letter to Chairman John C. Stennis, (D., Miss.). McFadden promised to look at the material and give us as much help as possible.
